

JESSICA TENGVALL

---

My name is Jessica and I'm on my second year of my PhD at Bioscience. I'm running for the faculty board for the first time, as I would like to be a part of upholding a high-quality education, inspire to increase outreach of science, and securing good working conditions for short term staff. I experience from my previous university, where I was head of the student board at an institutional level. We represented the students and maintained the contact with professors to discuss the organising of our education as well as ensuring a good study habitat for students. From another board, 'Verdens skove', that I was a member of, I got insight in community policy regarding the environment. From both boards, I have been part of strategic planning and budgeting. Based on this experience and my current position as a PhD, I have some core values that I would like to be a part of achieving: increase working conditions for us young researchers at the faculty, high-quality education, better climate change policy, and inspire young researchers to do more outreach of their research. I hope I can contribute to the faculty board at the Mathematics and Natural Science faculty to improve the faculty and surroundings for the staff.